

Explain the difference between analogue data and digital data.

What is an ADC and give a brief description of how it works.

What is a DAC and give a brief description of how it works.

Explain the need for conversion between analogue and digital data

Produce a diagram or table that represents data being obtained through the use of an analogue device and the process it goes through to become digital data.